

Public Computers at the Library

The new library features 50 public computers. Five of these computers are Macs. Six of the computers are 15 minute computers. Two computers are reserved for catalog use only. The rest of them may be used for at least an hour. The time on these computers may be extended as long as other computers are available.

In order to use these computers you will need your library card number. If a computer is available, you simply enter your library card number and begin using it. If none are available, you should enter your library card number at the Reservation Computer which is located at the front of the library. You would then receive the first computer that becomes available.

Source URL (retrieved on 2012-05-09 07:55): <http://www.cityofkyle.com/library/public-computers-library>