"Is it hard to build a business in Kyle?" We hear this question every once in a while. So with this edition of 'This is our Town', we bring you behind the scenes insight on working with the City of Kyle to open a business. Once someone decides to open a business in Kyle, the first step (after they create a business marketing plan and develop a budget, though the city doesn't require those!), is to submit an application with the city's Planning Department.
